SCOPE

"The fundamental idea for interdisciplinarity derives" as our Chief Editor Explains, "from an evolutionary necessity, namely the need to confront and interpret complex systems. An entity that is studied can no longer be analyzed in terms of an object of just single discipline, but as a contending hierarchy of components which could be studied under the rubric of multiple or variable branches of knowledge." Following this, we encourage authors to engage themselves in interdisciplinary discussion of topics from the broad areas listed below and apply interdisciplinary perspectives from other areas of the humanities and/or the sciences wherever applicable. We publish peer-reviewed original research papers and reviews in the interdisciplinary fields of humanities. A list, which is not exclusive, is given below for convenience. See Areas of discussion. We have firm conviction in Open Access philosophy and strongly support Open Access Initiatives. Rupkatha has signed on to the Budapest Open Access Initiative. In conformity with this, the principles of publications are primarily guided by the open nature of knowledge.

Hi! I have noted that the indexing years for the Rupkatha Journal on Interdisciplinary Studies in Humanities are given as 2009-2020. Do I take it that it is disaffiliated at present, i.e., for the current year 2022? Please respond.

reply

Y Yers 10 months ago

Hi! Is this journal disaffiliated at present? Could you find any information about it?

Melanie Ortiz 11 months ago

SCImago Team

Dear Jagdish,
Thank you very much for your comment.
All the metadata have been provided by Scopus/Elsevier in their last update sent to SCImago, including the Coverage's period data. The SJR for 2020 was released on 17 May 2021. We suggest you consult the Scopus database directly to see the current Index status as SJR is a static image of Scopus, which is changing every day.
For further information, please contact Scopus support.
