"This paper aims to examine the effect of leverage on risk for manufacture companies listed on the Indonesia Stock Exchange. The result shows that leverage, profitability, and size have a significant effect on risk. Nevertheless, there is a doubt whether the paper makes a significant contribution to the field. There is much literature in this area, although with different focal points, and it would be an exaggeration to state that this paper contained a new idea about an important subject with interesting implications. The paper could include its appeal by infusing a greater degree of originality by bringing a fresh perspective to the topic. The study requires considerable attention with respect to writing style, grammar, and punctuation. The paper does not demonstrate an adequate understanding of the relevant literature in the field and does not cite an appropriate range of literature sources. However, the literature review is just a list of references with a short description of each one, and the author did not identify a legitimate gap in the knowledge and how to fill it. Authors should justify their methodology, sample period, why they choose companies listed on the Indonesia Stock Exchange for their research, sample selection method, and their choices of variables, for example, why they choose to measure profitability by ROA, why they did not use ROE, profit margin, or other profitability measures.

The authors also measured leverage using debt to total assets and size using assets, they should also justify these measures. The conclusion section is short; this section should amend to include policy implication, and study limitations.”

Please revise the paper according to the above mentioned referees' comments and send me back a revised version of the paper along with a separate file named Response to the Reviewers (please explain point by point all made revisions; in case of impossibility of performance some point please state the reasons) as soon as possible.

Dear Intan Shaferi,

I resend you the letter which I sent you on 24th of May.

The revised manuscript FM-420-1117 "The Effect of Leverage Toward Risk on Manufacturing Company in Indonesia Stock Exchange" was considered.

A lot of similarities with already published papers was found that in Literature review and hypotheses section (please pay attention to the all mentioned section).

We have to remind you that our company strictly follows the principles of ethics in science, citing the works of other scientists and your previous works.

If you (Author A) copy a piece of text from another article (written by Author B), which already has a reference to another article (written by Author C), and the citation to Author B is not provided - this is the infringement of citation rules.

In this case, there are two options of correct citation:

- 1 - to refer to the article written by Author B and indicate that he refers to the work by Author C;
- 2 - to refer to the article written by Author C and describe his research by paraphrasing, without literal copying of the text, describe the investigation of Author C individually, in one's own words.

You can also use the direct quotes, so please, use inverted commas and references to the source.

Hence, we ask you to amend the text of your manuscript to avoid similarities with another published works. We encourage author(s) to use any plagiarism software to check the manuscript themselves.

Waiting for the revised manuscript.

I hope to receive the revised manuscript as soon as possible.

Importance: High

Dear Intan Shaferi,

Please pay attention and address the following comments of the reviewers about your revised manuscript ("The Effect of Leverage Toward Risk on Manufacturing Company in Indonesia Stock Exchange" FM-420-1117):

"1. The level of English very poor and doesn't meet the requirements for academic articles. The manuscript contains a lot of misspelling, grammar mistakes. Some sentences look absolutely unreadable. The manuscript should be seriously proofread.

2. The Title looks a bit strange from the point of English. It also should be proofread. The same about the Abstract. Besides, it should include brief description of all section of the manuscript.

3. The Introduction looks very descriptive. First of all, the relevance of research should be outlined.

4. Please, explain the following: "...The data of this study amounted to 320 of 64 manufacturing companies..." in Methods section. How this could be?

5. The results section should be more detailed in the aspect of selected companies.

6. The Conclusion should be re-written according to the Submission Guidelines.

7. The Manuscript doesn't meet all submission guidelines."

Please revise the manuscript according to the above mentioned referees' comments and send me back a revised version along with a separate file named Response to the Reviewers.

Please also explain why is the text of your paper placed on the site of conference? <http://www.icafrma.org/2017/proceeding/>

Dear Intan Shaferi,

We have pleasure in informing you that your paper titled "The Effect of LeverageToward Risk on Manufacturing Company in Indonesia Stock Exchange" FM-420-1117 was reviewed by the Editorial Board. Here are the comments concerning your article from our reviewers:

"This paper aims to examine the effect of leverage on risk for manufacture companies listed on the Indonesia Stock Exchange. The result shows that leverage, profitability, and size have a significant effect on risk. Nevertheless, there is a doubt whether the paper makes a significant contribution to the field. There is much literature in this area, although with different focal points, and it would be an exaggeration to state that this paper contained a new idea about an important subject with interesting implications. The paper could include its appeal by infusing a greater degree of originality by bringing a fresh perspective to the topic. The study requires considerable attention with respect to writing style, grammar, and punctuation. The paper does not demonstrate an adequate understanding of the relevant literature in the field and does not cite an appropriate range of literature sources. However, the literature review is just a list of references with a short description of each one, and the author did not identify a legitimate gap in the knowledge and how to fill it. Authors should justify their methodology, sample period, why they choose companies listed on the Indonesia Stock Exchange for their research, sample selection method, and their choices of variables, for example, why they choose to measure profitability by ROA, why they did not use ROE, profit margin, or other profitability measures. The authors also measured leverage using debt to total assets and size using assets, they should also justify these measures. The conclusion section is short; this section should amend to include policy implication, and study limitations."

Please revise the paper according to the above mentioned referees' comments and send me back a revised version of the paper along with a separate file named Response to the Reviewers (please explain point by point all made revisions; in case of impossibility of performance some point please state the reasons) as soon as possible.

Please confirm a receipt.

So you are kindly requested to study this material and work on the comments.

Dear Intan Shaferi,

I resend you the letter which I sent you on 24th of May.

The revised manuscript FM-420-1117 “The Effect of Leverage Toward Risk on Manufacturing Company in Indonesia Stock Exchange” was considered.

A lot of similarities with already published papers was found that in Literature review and hypotheses section (please pay attention to the all mentioned section).

We have to remind you that our company strictly follows the principles of ethics in science, citing the works of other scientists and your previous works.

If you (Author A) copy a piece of text from another article (written by Author B), which already has a reference to another article (written by Author C), and the citation to Author B is not provided - this is the infringement of citation rules.

In this case, there are two options of correct citation:

1 - to refer to the article written by Author B and indicate that he refers to the work by Author C;

2 - to refer to the article written by Author C and describe his research by paraphrasing, without literal copying of the text, describe the investigation of Author C individually, in one's own words.

You can also use the direct quotes, so please, use inverted commas and references to the source.

Hence, we ask you to amend the text of your manuscript to avoid similarities with another published works. We encourage author(s) to use any plagiarism software to check the manuscript themselves.

Waiting for the revised manuscript.

Please pay attention and address the following comments of the reviewers about your revised manuscript ("The Effect of Leverage Toward Risk on Manufacturing Company in Indonesia Stock Exchange" FM-420-1117):

- "1. The level of English very poor and doesn't meet the requirements for academic articles. The manuscript contains a lot of misspelling, grammar mistakes. Some sentences look absolutely unreadable. The manuscript should be seriously proofread.
2. The Title looks a bit strange from the point of English. It also should be proofread. The same about the Abstract. Besides, it should include brief description of all section of the manuscript.
3. The Introduction looks very descriptive. First of all, the relevance of research should be outlined.
4. Please, explain the following: "...The data of this study amounted to 320 of 64 manufacturing companies..." in Methods section. How this could be?
5. The results section should be more detailed in the aspect of selected companies.
6. The Conclusion should be re-written according to the Submission Guidelines.
7. The Manuscript doesn't meet all submission guidelines."

Please revise the manuscript according to the above mentioned referees' comments and send me back a revised version along with a separate file named Response to the Reviewers.

Please also explain why is the text of your paper placed on the site of conference? <http://www.icaafma.org/2017/proceeding/>

Dear Intan Shaferi,

We have pleasure in informing you that your paper titled "The Effect of LeverageToward Risk on Manufacturing Company in Indonesia Stock Exchange" FM-420-1117 was reviewed by the Editorial Board. Here are the comments concerning your article from our reviewers:

“This paper aims to examine the effect of leverage on risk for manufacture companies listed on the Indonesia Stock Exchange. The result shows that leverage, profitability, and size have a significant effect on risk. Nevertheless, there is a doubt whether the paper makes a significant contribution to the field. There is much literature in this area, although with different focal points, and it would be an exaggeration to state that this paper contained a new idea about an important subject with interesting implications. The paper could include its appeal by infusing a greater degree of originality by bringing a fresh perspective to the topic. The study requires considerable attention with respect to writing style, grammar, and punctuation. The paper does not demonstrate an adequate understanding of the relevant literature in the field and does not cite an appropriate range of literature sources. However, the literature review is just a list of references with a short description of each one, and the author did not identify a legitimate gap in the knowledge and how to fill it. Authors should justify their methodology, sample period, why they choose companies listed on the Indonesia Stock Exchange for their research, sample selection method, and their choices of variables, for example, why they choose to measure profitability by ROA, why they did not use ROE, profit margin, or other profitability measures. The authors also measured leverage using debt to total assets and size using assets, they should also justify these measures. The conclusion section is short; this section should amend to include policy implication, and study limitations.”

Please revise the paper according to the above mentioned referees' comments and send me back a revised version of the paper along with a separate file named Response to the Reviewers (please explain point by point all made revisions; in case of impossibility of performance some point please state the reasons) as soon as possible.

Please confirm a receipt.

So you are kindly requested to study this material and work on the comments.

I should greatly appreciate an early reply.

The revised manuscript FM-420-1117 "The Effect of Leverage Toward Risk on Manufacturing Company in Indonesia Stock Exchange" was considered.

A lot of similarities with already published papers was found that in Literature review and hypotheses section (please pay attention to the all mentioned section).

We have to remind you that our company strictly follows the principles of ethics in science, citing the works of other scientists and your previous works.

If you (Author A) copy a piece of text from another article (written by Author B), which already has a reference to another article (written by Author C), and the citation to Author B is not provided - this is the infringement of citation rules.

In this case, there are two options of correct citation:

1 - to refer to the article written by Author B and indicate that he refers to the work by Author C;

2 - to refer to the article written by Author C and describe his research by paraphrasing, without literal copying of the text, describe the investigation of Author C individually, in one's own words.

You can also use the direct quotes, so please, use inverted commas and references to the source.

Hence, we ask you to amend the text of your manuscript to avoid similarities with another published works. We encourage author(s) to use any plagiarism software to check the manuscript themselves.

Waiting for the revised manuscript.

- "1. The level of English very poor and doesn't meet the requirements for academic articles. The manuscript contains a lot of misspelling, grammar mistakes. Some sentences look absolutely unreadable. The manuscript should be seriously proofread.
2. The Title looks a bit strange from the point of English. It also should be proofread. The same about the Abstract. Besides, it should include brief description of all section of the manuscript.
3. The Introduction looks very descriptive. First of all, the relevance of research should be outlined.
4. Please, explain the following: "...The data of this study amounted to 320 of 64 manufacturing companies..." in Methods section. How this could be?
5. The results section should be more detailed in the aspect of selected companies.
6. The Conclusion should be re-written according to the Submission Guidelines.
7. The Manuscript doesn't meet all submission guidelines."

Dear Intan Shaferi,

I resend you the letter which I sent you on 24th of May.

The revised manuscript FM-420-1117 "The Effect of Leverage Toward Risk on Manufacturing Company in Indonesia Stock Exchange" was considered.

A lot of similarities with already published papers was found that in Literature review and hypotheses section (please pay attention to the all mentioned section).

We have to remind you that our company strictly follows the principles of ethics in science, citing the works of other scientists and your previous works.

If you (Author A) copy a piece of text from another article (written by Author B), which already has a reference to another article (written by Author C), and the citation to Author B is not provided - this is the infringement of citation rules.

In this case, there are two options of correct citation:

1 - to refer to the article written by Author B and indicate that he refers to the work by Author C;

2 - to refer to the article written by Author C and describe his research by paraphrasing, without literal copying of the text, describe the investigation of Author C individually, in one's own words.

You can also use the direct quotes, so please, use inverted commas and references to the source.

Hence, we ask you to amend the text of your manuscript to avoid similarities with another published works. We encourage author(s) to use any plagiarism software to check the manuscript themselves.

Waiting for the revised manuscript.

I hope to receive the revised manuscript as soon as possible.

Dear Intan Shaferi,

Your manuscript "The Effect of Leverage towards Risk to Investors' Preference on Manufacturing Companies in Indonesia Stock Exchange" FM-420-1117 can be published after the following required corrections:

1. Please use editable figures (for example, Figure 1, now it is like a picture).
2. Increase the text of your manuscript (now it contains about 3400 words, please add 1000 words, for example to Introduction and Literature review section. Thereat, please move some text from Introduction to Literature review section. Also in the comments I sent earlier was stated that "The conclusion section is short; this section should be amended to include policy implication, and study limitations. The manuscript does not demonstrate an adequate understanding of the relevant literature in the field and does not cite an appropriate range of literature sources. However, the literature review is just a list of references with a short description of each one, and the author did not identify a legitimate gap in the knowledge and how to fill it").
3. Please pay attention that the Manuscript should be prepared according to the Submission Guidelines: <https://businessperspectives.org/for-authors-editors/submission-guidelines>. Please check again.

Please increase the manuscript taking into account the recommendations.

Dear Intan Shaferi,

I resend you the letter which I sent you on 24th of May.

The revised manuscript FM-420-1117 "The Effect of Leverage Toward Risk on Manufacturing Company in Indonesia Stock Exchange" was considered.

A lot of similarities with already published papers was found that in Literature review and hypotheses section (please pay attention to the all mentioned section).

We have to remind you that our company strictly follows the principles of ethics in science, citing the works of other scientists and your previous works.

If you (Author A) copy a piece of text from another article (written by Author B), which already has a reference to another article (written by Author C), and the citation to Author B is not provided - this is the infringement of citation rules.

In this case, there are two options of correct citation:

1 - to refer to the article written by Author B and indicate that he refers to the work by Author C;

2 - to refer to the article written by Author C and describe his research by paraphrasing, without literal copying of the text, describe the investigation of Author C individually, in one's own words.

You can also use the direct quotes, so please, use inverted commas and references to the source.

Hence, we ask you to amend the text of your manuscript to avoid similarities with another published works. We encourage author(s) to use any plagiarism software to check the manuscript themselves.

Waiting for the revised manuscript.

I hope to receive the revised manuscript as soon as possible.

Your manuscript "The Effect of Leverage towards Risk to Investors' Preference on Manufacturing Companies in Indonesia Stock Exchange" FM-420-1117 can be published after the following required corrections:

1. Please use editable figures (for example, Figure 1, now it is like a picture).
2. Increase the text of your manuscript (now it contains about 3400 words, please add 1000 words, for example to Introduction and Literature review section. Thereat, please move some text from Introduction to Literature review section. Also in the comments I sent earlier was stated that "The conclusion section is short; this section should be amended to include policy implication, and study limitations. The manuscript does not demonstrate an adequate understanding of the relevant literature in the field and does not cite an appropriate range of literature sources. However, the literature review is just a list of references with a short description of each one, and the author did not identify a legitimate gap in the knowledge and how to fill it").

3. Please pay attention that the Manuscript should be prepared according to the Submission Guidelines:

Dear Intan Shaferi,

The revised version was considered. Below I present you the comments:

"The manuscript should be seriously revised. Please pay attention to the previous reviewers comments, which were not addressed in the revised version.

Please use English proof-reading service for carefully editing.

All literature review should be placed in Literature review section (not in Introduction)."

I attach you the manuscript with edited text on pages 1-2 as example. Please consider revision of manuscript title.

Please send completed and signed (by ALL authors of the manuscript, please indicate scientific ranks in the Cover letter) the Cover letter form (as you added new author Harjum Muharam).

Have a nice weekend.

Dear Intan Shaferi,

I resend you the letter which I sent you on 24th of May.

The revised manuscript FM-420-1117 "The Effect of Leverage Toward Risk on Manufacturing Company in Indonesia Stock Exchange" was considered.

A lot of similarities with already published papers was found that in Literature review and hypotheses section (please pay attention to the all mentioned section).

We have to remind you that our company strictly follows the principles of ethics in science, citing the works of other scientists and your previous works.

If you (Author A) copy a piece of text from another article (written by Author B), which already has a reference to another article (written by Author C), and the citation to Author B is not provided - this is the infringement of citation rules.

In this case, there are two options of correct citation:

1 - to refer to the article written by Author B and indicate that he refers to the work by Author C;

2 - to refer to the article written by Author C and describe his research by paraphrasing, without literal copying of the text, describe the investigation of Author C individually, in one's own words.

You can also use the direct quotes, so please, use inverted commas and references to the source.

Hence, we ask you to amend the text of your manuscript to avoid similarities with another published works. We encourage author(s) to use any plagiarism software to check the manuscript themselves.

Waiting for the revised manuscript.

I hope to receive the revised manuscript as soon as possible.

Dear Intan Shaferi,

Your manuscript "The Effect of Leverage towards Risk to Investors' Preference on Manufacturing Companies in Indonesia Stock Exchange" FM-420-1117 can be published after the following required corrections:

1. Please use editable figures (for example, Figure 1, now it is like a picture).
2. Increase the text of your manuscript (now it contains about 3400 words, please add 1000 words, for example to Introduction and Literature review section. Thereat, please move some text from Introduction to Literature review section. Also in the comments I sent earlier was stated that "The conclusion section is short; this section should be amended to include policy implication, and study limitations. The manuscript does not demonstrate an adequate understanding of the relevant literature in the field and does not cite an appropriate range of literature sources. However, the literature review is just a list of references with a short description of each one, and the author did not identify a legitimate gap in the knowledge and how to fill it").
3. Please pay attention that the Manuscript should be prepared according to the Submission Guidelines:
